Three MediaCom experts have been recognized and named judges at this key industry event.

Executives from our Australian, Singapore and New York offices will assess the power of campaigns from Asia and globally at the Festival of Media Asia in Singapore in March and the Festival of Media Global in Rome in April.

Nic Hodges, the Head of Innovation and Technology at MediaCom Australia, and Toby Jenner, Global Chief Business Development and Marketing Officer, will join the select jury for the Festival of Media Global.

In Asia, Sean Seamer, Chief Business Development Officer, APAC, based in Singapore will help select the winners.

MediaCom's record at the Festival of Media is second to none, winning Media Agency Network of Year the global event in 2010 and 2012 as well as leading the shortlist in 2013 and 2012.

The agency has eleven shortlist places for work by five different markets at the Festival of Media Asia 2014 with shortlists for the Festival of Media Global due to be announced in March.
